

Clubrooms Working Bee,by Derk

Woke up early with great expectations of being first there but had to make a short detour to my mother in-laws on the way, did what I had to do and took off, as I was about to enter the freeway I spot Ray Howlett flying by so I do my best to catch him but the cars in front wouldn't move out of the way so I had to be content to follow at a distance till we made Springvale Rd where I got past him and lead the rest of the way, only to arrive at the clubrooms with people waiting, never mind I tried.

Opened up the rooms and began sorting out the days work which as it turned out wasn't to be to big a job, two boys up on the roof doing the general once over raining leaves on those below as usual, another hand full of members getting the rocker cover ramp out for some additions and ideas, Mr Dunn up a ladder to fix a couple of fluorescent tubes, blue Ray dusting and sweeping like a man possessed and Bruce and Russell putting heads together to come up with a design for a rack on the Barbie trailer with myself running around checking stock in the trailer while Big Trev was busy doing his stock take of club apparel.

We managed to get through all the items Rod had listed for us to do and check pretty quickly so Peter Corrigan gave Linda a quick phone call to grab snags and bread before she left the shops, so while we waited we stood around like a bunch of council workers waiting for lunch to arrive, and as always chef extraordinaire Chris Shepherd did his duty on the Barbie, after the snags were devoured we moved onto the Chocolate cake baked by Di Eaton and fruit cake and Yoyo's baked by Valda Daggers as dessert Yum Yum. After lunch Big Trev entertained us by describing how to rid yourselves of unwanted neighbors, It only took two weeks for the house to go back on the market so it must work.
